About Spartan Spark:

The Spartan Spark serves as a catalyst for the University of Tampa's young and driven entrepreneurs. Housed in the Lowth Entrepreneur center, which supplies students with space to innovate, create and collaborate. The Spartan Spark provides a supportive ecosystem to develop their ideas, refine business skills. If selected, students eventually launch successful ventures with grants provided by the program.

Key Personnel:

Dr. Rebecca White, Director of The Spartan Spark; conducts start-up mentoring and provides a wealth of experience to the table. Dr. White is dedicated to fostering the youth of innovators.

"I think most of our students are not expecting to work for one employer all of their life and a major in entrepreneurship prepares them to approach their career and life with an entrepreneurial mindset," (Dr. White)

Peer Reviews:

Quotes like these from Rebecca White peak the minds of driven individuals. Two of my colleagues Johnathon David Tully and Real Estate Agent; Devin Yules decided to get involved with the Lowth entrepreneur center. Participating in business pitches in front of many executives and PHD's.

"...It has to be the best component of University of Tampa's Business school, its opportunity staring you right in the face..." Student and member of the Lowth entrepreneurial center, Jonathan Tully.
